WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

Free webinar for anyone interested in further developing their communications / soft skills to build stronger team relationships.

Do you really care about your people?

Unknowingly, leaders telegraph how much they care by the level of curiosity they demonstrate in their communications with people on their teams. Curious leaders ask great questions rather than steal conversations and “one up” people. However, what drives leadership curiosity is simply to care. Curious communication demonstrates that leaders care, and it is one of the simplest things leaders can do to build trust and respect within their teams. But they have to want to know the answer to a question to even think about asking a question.

With a Doctorate in Clinical Psychology and 10+ years of experience as a leading-edge executive coach, Dr. D'Amico's strength-based, whole-person approach to leadership supports leaders to develop a growth mindset, adaptability, and the behaviors that create improved self-awareness, stronger relationships and better results. She is a valued expert in resilient leadership, executive potential, emotional intelligence, and curious communication.

Join us for this free webinar to learn how you can build connections to create a culture of collaboration, authenticity, and strong curious communication that nurtures momentum and trust, increases leadership skills, and enables innovation within your team.
