MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIR

Welcome Back! Join Us in Long Beach for the 49th Annual P3S Conference

Greetings Clean Water Professionals,

On behalf of CWEA and this year's P3S Executive and Conference Planning Committees, I am truly honored and thrilled to invite you to the 2022 Pretreatment, Pollution Prevention, and Stormwater (P3S) Conference, June 21-23 in Long Beach.

This year we're pivoting back to an in-person meeting. We have heard from our members that they miss the in-person experience. Spending time with our peers and colleagues is exciting and inspiring.

There has always been a certain energy, excitement, and renewal of our purpose as clean water professionals when we get together. I encourage you all to find a way to participate in this conference and encourage your peers, colleagues, and co-workers to do the same.

Through connection and collaboration, the P3S Committee continues to promote professional and technical excellence in the field of water pollution source control, including pretreatment, pollution prevention, and stormwater, through education and training.

This exciting conference will provide:

- Educational and networking opportunities
- Engage with others from public agencies, community organizations, and academia
- Unite our professional community as we seek to create a healthier environment for everyone

The conference theme is Still on the Path to Clean Water - Celebrating the 50th Anniversary of the Clean Water Act.

2022 marks the 50th anniversary of the 1972 Clean Water Act (CWA), one of our nation's most significant environmental laws. Prior to this law, our waterways were overwhelmed by the impacts of toxic waste, heavy metals, and sewage released from manufacturing and other industrial sources.

This year we will reflect on the impacts of the Act and the necessity to join together and continue pressing forward.

As we are "Still on the Path to Clean Water" our profession will continue to face challenges. We all bring different experiences to the table and I look forward to seeing how we build on that experience to grow and move into the future.

Please consider getting involved in the P3S Committee. We'd love to welcome you to the Committee breakfast meeting on Wednesday morning and get started on your own path to becoming a clean water leader.

I look forward to seeing you at the conference!

Sincerely,

THEODORE HIGGINS

Speaker Bios

Adel Hagekhalil is general manager and chief executive officer for the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California, the largest wholesale drinking water agency in the country. Hagekhalil is responsible for leading Metropolitan's daily and long-term operations and planning to provide safe, reliable water to Southern California. He oversees Metropolitan's $1.9 billion annual budget, 1,800 employees, and extensive system of conveyance, storage, treatment and delivery infrastructure. Adel is a CWEA member, WEF Fellow, and a member of 5S.

Mikaela Randolph is the Watershed Coordinator for the Central Santa Monica Bay Watershed Area. In this role she looks forward to supporting communities across this watershed and in the greater Los Angeles region to achieve high water quality outcomes through projects that have multi-benefits with a focus on the most vulnerable and disadvantaged communities.

Katrine Whitson is an Assistant Professor of Molecular Biology and Biochemistry at UC Irvine. Whiteson is interested in human associated microbial and viral communities. She uses metagenomics, metabolomics, microbial genetics and ecological statistics to answer questions about how microbes and viruses affect human health. Her interests are in understanding how individual and persistent human-associated microbial and viral communities affect health.
